

Assistant Stage Manager

Park Theatre is recruiting an Assistant Stage Manager for our upcoming immersive fundraising theatre production, Whodunnit [Unrehearsed] 4.

Whodunnit [Unrehearsed] 4 is a comedy murder mystery, where a different celebrity takes to the stage each performance to try and solve the murder. They've never seen the script before and are fed all of their lines via an earpiece. The 2026 edition marks the most ambitious version yet. For the first time, the production will take over the entire building, from the street outside to the bars, foyers and both auditoria. The exterior will be reimagined as a Western streetscape, while interior spaces will be dressed with saloon-style décor.

This show is a key fundraiser for Park Theatre, which receives no regular public subsidy. Proceeds support the running of the venue, new writing and community programmes.

The Assistant Stage Manager will work alongside the Company Stage Manager and Deputy Stage Manager to ensure the smooth running of the rehearsal and production period.

Main Responsibilities:

- Attend rehearsals, technical rehearsals on stage and performances
- Assist the Deputy Stage Manager and production team in the set-up of rehearsal spaces, including mark-out and provision of rehearsal set, furniture and prop items
- Work closely with the Production Manager and/or Designer in the sourcing, making, and upkeep of props
- Monitor and document the rehearsal process, including noting entrances / exits, use of props, basic blocking and costume changes
- Set props, furniture and set items for each performance
- Take responsibility for the management of props (including any running props) throughout performances
- Assist as necessary with scene changes and technical cues, in costume as required
- Prepare and action prop returns alongside the other stage management team members in liaison with the Production Manager.
